SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

How Mrs. Reed of Peoria, Ill., Escaped The Surgeon's Knife.

Peoria, Ill.—"I wish to let every one know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. Forty-two years I suffered. The doctor said I had a tumor and the only remedy was the surgeon's knife. My mother bought me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am a well and healthy woman. For months I suffered from inflammation, and your Sanative Wash relieved me. I am glad to tell anyone what your medicines have done for me. You can use my testimonial in any way you wish, and I will be glad to answer letters."—Mrs. CHRISTINA REED, 105 Mound St., Peoria, Ill.

Mrs. Lynch Also Avoided Operation. Jessup, Pa.—"After the birth of my fourth child, I had severe organic inflammation. I would have such terrible pains that it did not seem as though I could stand it. This kept up for three long months, until two doctors decided that an operation was needed. "Then one of my friends recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after taking it for two months I was a well woman."—Mrs. JOSEPH A. LYNCH, Jessup, Pa.

Women who suffer from female ills should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, one of the most successful remedies the world has ever known, before submitting to a surgical operation.

PRODUCTION OF ALUMINUM THE AMERICAN CAMEL

In the United States accurate statistics of production of aluminum are not available, but it is estimated that the quantity of ingots made in the first half of the current year approached, if it did not exceed 20,000,000 pounds. The imports for the half-year were 10,000,000 pounds, exceeding considerably the production. The total supply, therefore, exceeding 30,000,000 pounds, which is the largest quantity ever reported in a similar period. We do not hear of any large stocks held anywhere, so that it seems probable that most of this metal has entered into consumption.—Engineering and Mining Journal.

teens, for he was but seventeen when he started his professional career with the Hutchinson, Kan., team of the Western Association. At any rate, Joe must have started very early and has certainly been going some ever since.

Good at Everything. Baseball is by no means Wood's only accomplishment. Probably even man in the world looks back upon his boyhood days and recalls one boy who made a successful debut in everything he tried. These adventure-loving youngsters who try everything that comes their way and straightway make success their end are found about in every generation and to each grip of boys they are always youngsters who appear to have inherited knack of excelling in competition. They appear to start in life just rural winners, to whom a "game" is any sort of the very essence of life itself. From his present ability in many lines, one imagines that Joe must have been just this sort of a winner. After his early years in Chicago he moved again out to O'Leary, Co. and while there in the Rockies he had to ride horseback and to shoot both much better than the average even for Colorado. It was in Colorado that his grammar and high school days brought him out as an eager pitcher and gave him his first really wide renown as a winner this special line.

Here, too, he began to pick up the rudiments of pool at billiards, to learn a little something about golf, and to round out his general education in every one of many things in which he now excels. Today Wood is one of the top pool-players in the country. He's not yet attained quite as great efficiency in billiards, but he is improving his game. He is one of the best card players in the Sox it, not because he likes to gamble but rather because he appears to be quite happy unless he is engaged in competition of some kind. He is more over, an accomplished dancer and a sort of all-around man generally.

Played Five Seasons. It was in the fall of 1907 that he set forth into wide world of league baseball, was with the Hutchinson club a season or so, and then moved to Kansas City, where, as a young pitcher, he began to spread over the country. He was finally purchased by President John L. Taylor of the St. Louis Browns, and reported with this organization in 1909. From that time Joe has been a good pitcher, for league from the very start, speed has been his most reliable asset, and with each successive season he has added some new weapons to his lot by careful, conscious study of opposing batters and of the work molded by himself as a great hurler that he now is.

Wood's first foremost bid for fame is "at the almost blinding speed jumps from his smooth, arched-up like an arrow from a bow. Walter Johnson is said to be the fastest ball in the business, the difference between his sling and Wood's speediest just being infinitesimal. Both of these pitchers are past masters in art of burning the ball across the rubber.

In addition to his ball—the nerve of our batters with its almost imperceptible—Wood has likewise one speediest if not the speediest ball in the major leagues, sharp-breaking, bewildering when mowing down opponents, and his most deadly bender, but he has also learned one season the beauty of mixing curve with his assortment of heaves, and this, while developed to the perfection rest of his repertoire, has proved a great aid to him.

The action with Boston, of course, long will Wood last?

Judge his graceful, easy delivery and backbreaking effort, if he is the major league for a year, more effective for a year than this, as he prove the same wonderful is look that has helped him defeat good takes good care of this moderate in everything. Youngster, he is one of the of the remarkable club, is one of the members and of strategy which boss of it confers in matters of wits and the general play.
